3	Materow ow sordya / Matters arising NONE
4	Materow ughella / Strategic issues NONE
5	Arwodhow yn stretow / Street signs Antoine Close, Newlyn = Kew Antoine Thought to be a personal name, based on Stuart Fraser's paper "Antoine Villa: A History" (2012) which discusses the history of the building that this street is named after. On page 7 Fraser notes a baptismal record of "Antoine De Neuter Foster", great-nephew of Christopher Bodinar Foster who built the house. Beaconside, Foxhole = Tutansys Various spellings for 'beacon' had been agreed previously including tansys/tanses (fire beacon) and golva (lookout). While the <-es> ending is found historically (BM: tanges), the <-ys>

	ACTION: Research Panel to identify the second element in tansys/tanses 'beacon'.	KG
	Blackberry Way, Par = Hyns Mor Du
	Boscolleth Way, Truro = Hyns Boskollwydh
	Boscolla found to the west was spelled Boscolleith 1302, Boscolleth 1345. Most likely from bos 'dwelling' + kollwydh 'hazel trees'.
	Bosvigo Lane, Truro = Bownder Bosveygow
	The second element is unknown; the place-name was agreed on 04/12/2013.
	Dunder Park, Polzeath = Park Taran
	Local references to the word 'dunder' suggest that it refers to 'thunder'. Also found at 'Dunder Hole' near Tintagel.
	Killyvarder Way, St Austell = Hyns Kelli war Dreth
	Named after Killyvarder Rock, previously Callyvardor Rock. There was a discussion on the original meaning of 'killy' and whether it came from kelli 'grove' or another word such as kellys 'lost'. There was evidence of a submerged forest at Karrek Loos yn Koos , so 'grove' would not be impossible meaning.
	Penlee Way, Marazion = Hyns Pennlegh
	Pondhu Road = Fordh Ponsdu
	The mutation of du 'black' > dhu is incorrect in its current form and has been reverted in the Cornish.
	Ringway Flats, Bodmin = Rannjiow Tremenhyns
	Page 23 of the Cornwall Council document "Bodmin Conservation Area Character Appraisal and Management Plan" (2012) notes :
	During the 1950s in response to increased traffic congestion a direct link was formed between Bore Street and Pool Street avoiding the narrow Honey Street. The new road was completed in 1959 and named the Dennison Road `ringway`.

Gerlyver Meur suggests fordh-dremen for `bypass`, which was amended in this instance to tremenhyns to translate the meaning more accurately.

ACTION: JE to add fordh dremen to the policy as the approved term for `bypass`. JE

Upland Crescent, Truro = Gwarak Ardh

Warspite Way, Marazion = Hyns Warspite

Named after HMS Warspite which was beached off St Michaels Mount.

Elmsworthy (SS2515413305) = Kardylman

Early spellings show the original meaning nothing to do with `elms`, which is a recent change first appearing on the tithe apportionment as Ilmsworthy 1840. The earliest form identified is Tylmaneswurthe 1237. Svensson suggests the meaning as Tilmanes-worðig, or Tilman's Worðig (fortified farm). The translation uses Cornish kar `fort` + Tylman, a Cornish respelling of the name which also matches the historical spelling.

The meaning of Tilman is uncertain, it is a recognised Anglo-Saxon name possibly meaning a farmer (a man who tills the earth) or a tile maker.

Flexbury (SS2124207229) = Kruglin

There is no evidence of a round at or near to Flexbury, therefore `bury` was thought to refer to the group of Tumuli found to the west. The translation contains krug `tumulus` + lin `flax`.

Forda (SS2765211167) = Trerys

Forda, Lanivet previously translated as Trerys, tre `farmstead` + rys `ford`.

Grove = Kelli

West Grove (SS2227804993) = Kelli West

Little Grove (SS2206204983) = Kelli Vyghan

Grove Park (SS2273805106) = Park Kelli

Another spelling, Estgrove, is referenced in 1389 possibly referring to Grove Park.

Halls (SS2252709469) = Tregonna

Svensson suggests 'halls' comes from OE heals 'neck of land'; the topography here would support this meaning. Containing tre + konna 'neck'.

Hele = Trebans

Svensson suggests the meaning is OE healh 'nook, recess'; the Panel discussed whether earliest forms le hele, la Heyle, Middilhele 1250 could have been Cornish heyl 'estuary' instead.

Although heyl was not discounted entirely, it was noted the shape is very similar to Trebant Water; therefore the agreed translation uses tre + pans 'hollow'.

Helebridge = Pons Trebans

Hele Mill = Melin Trebans
